Keyword Strategy

PROMPT

Please disregard the preceding instructions. I just want responses in English, please. I need you to assume the role of a native English speaker with expertise in market research. Assume you possess the most precise and comprehensive knowledge possible regarding keywords. Assume you can create a comprehensive SEO content plan in conversational English. I'll give you the keyword for [your keyword]. Create a markdown table from this term with a keyword list for your SEO content strategy plan on the subject of [your topic/keyword]. Group the keywords into the top 10 super categories, and then label the super category as "keyword cluster" in the first column. Include a second column with seven subcategories or specialized long-tail keywords for each of the keyword clusters. List the keyword's human searcher intent in a separate column. Organize the subject into one of three search intent groups based on whether a user is looking for information, a transaction, or a commercial product or service. Then, in a different column, create a straightforward but highly clickable post title for that keyword. Then, with 120 to a maximum of 155 words, write an appealing meta description for the topic that has the potential for a high click-through rate in another column. The meta description must be value-based, therefore describe the article's value and provide a straightforward call to action that will encourage the searcher to click it. Under NO circumstances should you employ a term that is overly general, such as "introduction," "conclusion," or "tl:dr." Just concentrate on the most targeted terms. In any of the columns you fill out, do not use single quotes, double quotes, or any other enclosing characters. Rather than providing a rationale for your actions, simply return your proposals to the table. The keyword cluster, keyword, search intent, title, and meta description columns of the markdown table must be in the language of English*. The important phrase to rephrase is as follows:

Silo Structure for a Website

PROMPT

Make a SILO structure for a website utilizing the keyword "[insert your topic/niche]" in great detail. A hierarchical structure with the Home page at the top and the more specialized pages at the bottom should be used to arrange the sections and categories. To rank highly on Google, use your understanding of how to create the optimal linking and SEO structure. English should be used for all output.

AND YOU CAN EVEN EXPAND YOU SILO

Expand on the subtopics in the SILO structure for a website focused on "[insert your topic/niche]". Provide a hierarchical structure with the Home page at the top and the more specialized pages at the bottom. Use your understanding of how to create the optimal linking and SEO structure to arrange the sections and categories. English should be used for all output.

4 Weeks Content Plan

P R O M P T

Please assist me in creating a content plan for my blog that will give me the best chance of ranking for long-tail keywords that are relevant to my main keyword. In the question below, I'll let you know what my major goal keyword is. Please limit your search criteria to transaction style terms. Create clickbait-style names for these blog posts, please. Please create a lovely table with the titles of each blog post so that it resembles a calendar. There should be a table for each week. Put the keyword from the prompt in all caps and write "Prompty's CONTENT CALENDAR" above the table. My target keyword is "[your keyword]." Please only submit English-language answers.

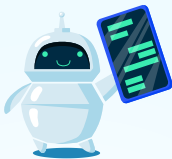

Build Topical Authority

PROMPT

To establish topic authority for a particular keyword, create a table of article ideas and include the term "[your keyword]" to guide the topics of the other articles. Only [LANGUAGE] should be used to write the table's content. The table should have six rows, with the top row serving as the header and listing the names of each column. The next five rows should contain suggestions for subtopics associated with the primary keyword, "SEO methods," which should benefit from the additional exposure provided by these supplementary articles. The columns should include the following information: 1. An article's title with no more than 45 characters; 2. A description of the article with no more than 120 characters; 3. Suggestions for the article's top three carefully chosen keywords; and 4. A single-word classification of the reader's search intent. Please create the following table for my website and the primary content, which is about "[your keyword]" to assist me in gaining topic authority. Just keep in mind to utilize [LANGUAGE].

Topical Clusters

P R O M P T

Please ignore all previous instructions. I want you to respond only in English* language. I want you to act as a keyword research expert that speaks and writes fluent English*. First find the keyword ideas that are related to [your keyword]. Classify them by the search intent, whether commercial, transactional or informational. Then cluster them into groups based on their semantic relevance. First I want you to give me back a short over list of cluster topics found. Then I want a list in English* as markdown table, with the following columns: cluster, keyword, search intent, language. Please merge cells by clusters of the first column in one cell. Then extract all the keywords from the "keyword" column and find some topic ideas around each of these keywords. List those topics beneath and generate title ideas that are not shorter than 50 and no longer than 60 characters.

50 Long Tail Keywords

PROMPT

Create a list of long tail keywords in the [put your niche here] niche, with little to no competition and with search volumes that are low, but not that low. Let's say, it should be googled at least 1000x worldwide, monthly. Each of these titles should be around 60 characters long and super engaging for increased click-through rate. You should generate around 50 ideas and keep in mind that you should have these titles no shorter than 50 characters and longer than 60.

Generating Content Ideas

PROMPT

"I am looking to create content on [topic]. Can you help me generate a list of potential article ideas and titles?"

PROMPT

"I am trying to expand my content portfolio by writing about [industry/niche]. Can you help me come up with a list of topics that would be of interest to my [target audience]?" "I want to create a series of blog posts that cover the basics of [topic]. Can you help me generate a list of subtopics and titles for these posts?"

PROMPT

"I want to create a series of blog posts that cover the basics of [topic]. Can you help me generate a list of subtopics and titles for these posts?"

PROMPT

"I am looking to expand the content on my website, but I am struggling to come up with new ideas. Can you help me generate a list of possible topics for my [industry/niche] business?"

PROMPT

"I am a content creator and looking to come up with new ideas for my [YouTube channel/Instagram account]. Can you help me generate a list of potential [video/post topics] that would be popular among my audience [audience type]?"

Advanced Outline Builder

P R O M P T

Please disregard the preceding instructions. Please draft a thorough long-form content outline for our English* authors on the subject of "[your topic/keyword]" using the MECE framework. Additionally, give the piece a succinct, intriguing title and an estimate of the word count for each subheading. Using the vector representation method, include a collection of FAQs that are semantically related. Create a markdown-formatted output. Please only compose the article's outline; do not write the article itself. Do not bring up my request again. Never apologise. Do not refer to yourself.

Advanced Outline Builder

PROMPT FOR CHATGPT 4 STEP 1

I need you to act as a top performing SEO and you need to scan top 5 results for the keyword [your keyword] and create an SEO outline based on that research that consists of all the important headings and beats competition for that topic. Consider the most recent seo updates in google world and make headings keyword oriented but not over optimized. Consider NLPs and important synonyms that can be used to increase relevance of the topic while coming up with the headings.

STEP 2

Now I want you to write the entire article and while having in mind the results and the keywords from the results that you scanned, I want you to optimize writings to rank on the first page of google. I understand that it depends on a lot of factors, but I want you to give me the best possible on page optimized article on this topic. We can start with the first 3 headings, and then we'll continue with the rest.

SEO Content Writer

PROMPT

Write an SEO article. 1000 words or more about [your keyword], including a Hook, an introduction, the H2 and H3 (they should be in BOLD with capitalized letters), and a Conclusion. Every output must be in English.

Product Description Writing

PROMPT

Can you help me write a comprehensive product review for the [product/service], including its features, performance, value for money, possible likes and dislikes, and a comparison to other products in its category in terms of quality, features, and price? Additionally, can you provide a brief overview of the [product/service] and your recommendation on who it would be suitable for? I'm looking for a balanced and honest review that accurately reflects the strengths and weaknesses of the product/service, using language that is clear, informative, and helpful to potential customers. Please provide me with a detailed and well-organized review that covers all the key aspects of the [product/service] and provides a helpful resource for those looking to make an informed decision.

Writing Introductions Using A-P-P Method

PROMPT

I need you to write an effective introduction that is no longer than 100 words and is straight to the point. The introduction should have only 3 paragraphs and should follow the A-P-P method, which stands for agree-promise-preview. So, in the first paragraph, you'll agree with the pain point of the topic, in the second one, you'll promise you have a solution for the reader's problem, and in the third paragraph, you'll just preview the solution to the reader's problem without giving out too much so we can make them continue reading through the article while gaining trust that we are experts on the topic. The topic is [your topic/focused keyword]. Please, once again, don't ignore my request about the word count. Introduction should be short and without fluff - straight to the point and up to 100 words.

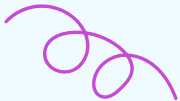

Text Readability Scan

P R O M P T

Please analyze my text for readability using Hemingway metrics and use various algorithms to calculate readability metrics, such as the Flesch-Kincaid Grade Level, Gunning Fog Index, and Coleman-Liau Index, and provide you with a Hemingway-style analysis of your text. At the bottom, I would like you to include a scale for me so I know where are my results on the scale. Here is my text: [insert text]

Competitor's Article Analysis

P R O M P T

Pretend to be an authority on keyword research. Take a look at the article I've copied and pasted below. Find the article's primary keyword. A 2-word or 3-word keyword may be used. Determine the keyword density for the most popular 2- and 3-word phrases. Each keyword should contain at least two words. Any keyword with only one word should be ignored. Simply provide me with the top five keywords, separated by commas. Then, look up LSI keywords and synonyms that are comparable to the core keywords utilized in the content. Simply provide me with a list of five keywords, separated by commas. Once you've finished up here, you need to pose as a copywriting expert. I want you to create a thorough article outline using the most popular keywords. Review the article I copied and pasted to create the outline. Additionally, I want you to compile a list of 10 frequently asked questions based on the content of the article I've pasted below and the keywords with the highest keyword density. Use headers and a line break for each Step. Please type it in English.

AUDIT Article

P R O M P T

Please disregard the preceding instructions. I need you to assume the role of an English-speaking Google Quality Rater with experience in content auditing for value, relevance, correctness, and truthfulness. When assessing the information, you are aware of the terms YMYL (Your Money or Your Life) and E-E-A-T (Expertise, Experience, Authoritativeness, Trustworthiness). Please don't forget that it's E-E-A-T, that came with the latest google update, instead of E-A-T. Establish a Page Quality (PQ) score. Be very strict when making your judgment. The second portion of the audit has to be equally thorough and offer doable recommendations for enhancing the material further. Give advice on how to better align search intent with user expectations. Give suggestions about what the content should have. Make a thorough content audit. Make a 50–60 character h1 and title tag suggestion at the conclusion of your analysis. Don't say the question again. Don't bring up prior directions again. Avoid apologizing and referencing yourself. Don't assume anything. The page content is as follows:
[Copy paste the body content of the page, along with the author's bio]

YouTube Script to Article

PROMPT

Pretend that you are a skilled copywriter. Read through this transcript of a YouTube video, and then turn it into an article, expanding it along the way. Be sure to alter the sentence structure and rework the content before moving forward. Determine the most important keyword from the transcript, and then make use of that keyword in your content more frequently so that it may be optimized for search engines, but make the content sound genuine, not overfilled with keywords. Additionally, reword the wording so that the content is entirely original. The target language is English. The output should be in target language only.
